Jennifer M. Ebona	Philippines	Professor V, Central Bicol State University of Agriculture-Pili Campus	The International Society of Waste Management, Air and Water supported effluent treatment, air and water pollution control, environmentally sound solid waste management methods, general environmental protection awareness, etc. The conference was expertly planned and carried out. Being a part of this event was an absolute honor and fantastic experience. The presenters from all over the world had exceptional levels of knowledge and expertise. They also have a good attitude, and I enjoy how open they were to discuss the ideas behind their studies. The conference also inspired a lot of thoughts regarding global challenges, particularly waste management. This, in my opinion, was a crucial forum for experts to exchange ideas and address the most pressing problems of the day.-Jenelyn B. Plamiano & Jennifer M.
